How Monero is going to Usher in Freedom and Topple an Authoritarian Regime

Martha Bueno

“One revolution is still necessary: the one that will not end with the rule of its leader. It will be the revolution against revolutions, the uprising of all peaceable individuals, who will become soldiers once so that neither they nor anyone else will ever have to be a soldier again.”

- Jose Marti

Article 143 of the preliminary draft of the new Penal Code, which the Supreme People's Court published on its website, establishes that:

"Whoever, by himself or on behalf of non-governmental organizations, international institutions, associative forms or any person natural or legal entity of the country or of a foreign State, supports, encourages, finances, provides, receives or has in its possession funds, material or financial resources, with the purpose of defraying activities against the State and its constitutional order, incurs a sanction of deprivation of freedom from four to ten years".
